

Again

Well, you wear me out to the bitter end
When you say again, again, again, again
If I tell you no, can we still be friends?
Still you say again, again, again, again

You know I won't break and you just don't bend
So you say again, again, again, again
Like a spinning top round and round we spin
And you say again, again, again, again

(Break) I wouldn't argue if I didn't care
Life would mean a whole lot less without you here
If you come over we can share
So much joy to be found there

Now I'm giving out, but you won't give in
You just say again, again, again, again
I say enough 'cause you don't say when
You just say again, again, again, again

Solo I'm the loser if I quit this race
I could wander blindly from this point of grace
I can't refuse such a winning face
So much joy around this place

Well, you wear me out to the bitter end
When you say again, again, again, again
If I tell you no, can we still be friends?
Still you say again, again, again, again

I say enough 'cause you won't say when You just say again, again, again
again, again, again, again
Yeah, you say again, again, again, again